

H1N1 clinic

Fire department personnel partnered with Charlotte County Health Department to provide the first public H1N1 flu vaccination clinic. The clinic was held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 18 at the Charlotte County Event Center. The intent of the clinic was to focus on people in the general public who fall in one of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's targeted priority groups.

Approximately 1,000 doses were administered with very positive feedback received from the community. Additional clinics will be held as doses of the vaccine become available.
