

NEWS BRIEFS

Beach advisory lifted

The Charlotte County Health Department on Thursday lifted the advisory that had been in place at Englewood Beach, Knight Island, the Port Charlotte Beach Complex and Boca Grande. The health department's most recent tests show that the bacteria levels have decreased, meaning the water is safe once again for beachgoers. More information about beach monitoring and other health department programs is available at www.CharlotteCHD.com